RIDGES & HOLLERS

D. Calvert Brand, Regional Director

The concerns about holding the Richmond conference so close in time to the coming event in Orlando the first of February are history. We had a great experience in Richmond and the conference was well attended. The East Central Region was well represented both in terms of attendees and leadership.

Four of our members presented workshops: Judy Ragsdale presented her PhD findings on Supervisory Education Wisdom, Sergei Petrov presented his DMin findings on a Diversity Curriculum, and Jack Gleason and Yoke –Lye Lim Kwong presented a new verbatim process (IIP). Bill Scrivener presided as ACPE president and Mary Burks-Price served (and was re-elected to another term) as ACPE secretary. Additionally, our delegates to the Board of Representatives and the various ACPE committees and commissions faithfully did a lot of good work for the association. It all made me proud to be from the ECR!

This conference has also given us a new Associate Supervisor. Susan Harthon successfully met the Certification Commission first thing Sunday morning and was granted her request. She is pictured with her arms full of the materials she had submitted and a delighted smile. Congratulations Susan!

Susan recently accepted a position with St. Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis and is excited about her new work there.

Jim Wright and Wayne McKenney also met the Commission and were denied. This is always a huge disappointment. I know they would each welcome your support.

The folk who were there for these pre-conference meetings shared some surprise excitement. Tuesday evening the Omni was crawling with police and security personnel in preparation for a visit from Senator Barack Obama. There had been rumors of his arrival, and in this case they were true. He was in Richmond to speak at a rally in the Coliseum. Several of us made our way to the rally on Wednesday and helped fill the building.

Some of you will remember Barbara Bullock. She made candidacy in our region while an SES at Clarian Health in Indianapolis. She then took a position in North Carolina which is part of the Mid-Atlantic Region that hosted this conference. It was great to see her again and to be present as she introduced one of the plenary speakers. Also, an old friend/peer from my CPE internship in Philadelphia (1966-67) was honored with the Distinguished Service award: Dan DeArment. He directed the program at Presbyterian-University of Pennsylvania for many years and supervised Joan Hemmenway among other supervisory students. He is retired and living in Sarasota, FL.

So, there it is. We'll know about the election before you get this newsletter, and my life will get back to normal (whatever that is). Donna and I are off to Merida, Yucatan, Mexico on November 18th and will be on vacation until December 1st. It happens there is a Presbyterian Seminary in Merida and I am looking forward to a visit there. Perhaps I will discover an opportunity to share some of my interest in pastoral education in that setting. Peace, Cal ☺

ANNOUNCEMENTS

- Annual CPE Day Common Meal at Earlham School of Religion and Bethany Theological Seminary, Wednesday, November 12 @ 11:20am. CPE centers are invited to send an individual to have lunch with the student body and represent the program during common meal time.
